grounding, metaphysical explanation, and the structure of ... - grounding, metaphysical explanation, and the structure of reality abstract: this paper explores a new approach to characterising the structure of reality. structure is to be characterised in terms of metaphysical explanations, where metaphysical explanations are answers to what-makes-it-the-case-that questions. constrains explanation and metaphysical controversy - joel velasco - explanation and metaphysical controversy i a seachange has occurred in the study of explanation. i as recently as a decade ago, students of explanation had a fairly standard way of proceeding. they had before them a dominant theory of explanation, c. g. Hempel's covering-law account. they would begin by producing counterexamples to it and could ... metaphysical explanation - flov - metaphysical explanations. they are explanations that, rather than explaining a certain effect with reference to its cause, take one from what is less to what is more fundamental; to what depends for its existence on something else; to that on which its existence is grounded. it is a kind of explanation one finds both in- and outside of ... metaphysical explanation by constraint - michael bertrand - metaphysical explanations by constraint belong to a new category of metaphysical explanation and work from the top down rather than the bottom up. as a result, they have the capacity to extend the explanatory reach of metaphysics. metaphysical explanations by constraint are also related to explanation in metaphysics? - springer - a metaphysical fact if x can be non-metaphysically explained (the argument from the non-metaphysically explained). 1 metaphysical explanation and explanation in metaphysics talking about explanation in metaphysics is presumably not quite the same as talking about metaphysical explanation. metaphysical components of scientific explanations metaphysical constraints: theory and explanation michael ... - metaphysical explanation backed by metaphysical constraints, which i call metaphysical explanation by constraint. i argue that metaphysical explanations by constraint belong to a novel category of metaphysical explanation and are different in kind from more widely appreciated metaphysical explanations underwritten by the grounding relation. metaphysical explanation - göteborgs universitet - metaphysical explanations are answers to what-makes-it-the-case-that questions. i argue that this notion of metaphysical explanation is able to do much of the work carved out for grounding, in particular, that of characterising the structure of reality (albeit in an antirealist metaphysical explanation and the structure of reality - metaphysical explanations between facts that it backs, just as one should distinguish the worldly relation of causation from the causal explanations between facts that it backs', and Audi (2012a: 119-120) insists 'grounding is not a form of explanation, even metaphysical rationalism - shamik dasgupta - 1 metaphysical explanations our first task is to formulate the version of the psr that i have in mind (sections 1-5). i said that the psr can be understood in a number of different ways depending on the meaning of 'explanation' and the domain of the quantifier 'everything'. let us start with the notion of explanation. metaphysical explanation by constraint - philarchive - metaphysical explanations by constraint belong to a new category of metaphysical explanation and work from the top-down rather than the bottom up. because they work from the top-down, they have the capacity to extend the explanatory reach of metaphysics. they are also related to top-down scientific explanations and grounding and metaphysical explanation - philarchive - think of metaphysical explanations as tracking grounding relations. second, we might think that grounding relations have a closer connection to explanation such that the grounding relation just is an explanatory relation. both accounts of the grounding-explanation connection can find support in the literature. alternatively, we can deny neuroscience and the soul: competing explanations for the ... - metaphysical explanations. 1.1. research overview the present research examines how neuroscience explanations for psychological phenomena can impact lay belief in soul, guided by two complementary hypotheses: h1. exposure to neuroscience research with strong mechanistic explanations for psychological experience will does the counterfactual theory of explanation apply to non ... - non-causal explanations has emerged, as there seem to be compelling examples of non-causal explanations in the sciences, in pure mathematics, and in metaphysics. i defend the claim that the counterfactual theory of explanation (cte) captures the explanatory character of both non-causal scientific and metaphysical explanations. an introduction to grounding - kelly trogdon - one diagnosis of the contrast in the two cases above is this: in causal explanations the explanans and explanandum are connected through a causal mechanism, while in metaphysical explanations they're connected through a constitutive form of determination, that of grounding (cf. fine (forthcoming)). there is a burgeoning
